

Brian Wickenheiser

I first became involved in the world of dog sports in 2007 when we entered my daughter in her first agility classes with her young Yorkie-Chihuahua mix. Within a couple of years, I got my first sport dog, Eclipse, an Australian Shepherd.

I have now been training and competing in a number of dog sports, including agility, disc and dock diving, since 2009. I have competed in AAC, UKI and CKC agility events including multiple Regional and National Championships, and have been fortunate enough to have a number of podium placements over the years.

In early 2018, I turned my attention to agility judging. I believe that my experience as a competitor and student of agility have served me well as a judge. My goal as a judge is to design fast, flowing courses that are challenging yet at the same time provide safe lines for the dogs.
